

With the promise of long summer days, clear blue skies and bonfires, it's hard to think about taking classes. However, let's review a few reasons it might be a good idea to take a class or two this summer.

UNIVERSITY

1. Summer typically means more time and less responsibility. This could mean a better grade and an improved GPA.
2. Summer days are long. Sunburn is bound to happen. Why not use some of that indoor time to get one step closer to graduation?
3. Classes can be taken online, in accelerated format and in-seat. The choice is yours!

To register, go to ferris.edu/statewide and click on MyFSU. Login and go to the Academics & Services tab. You'll see a box for Registration. Look up class schedules and add the ones you need. If you need an appointment with an advisor because you aren't sure which classes to take, click on the Schedule Advising link on your location's website or call your local office. If you're taking only community college classes this summer, we look forward to seeing you again when fall semester begins August 31st! If you're graduating this spring, congratulations!
